“1 in 5 children have a learning and attention issue, but many are not formally identified.”

-National Center for Learning Disabilities

According to the National Center for Learning Disabilities, 1 in 5 children in the U.S. have a learning and attention issue.

With targeted, evidence-based instruction and intervention, as well as personalized learning, these children can succeed in school and in life.

If you are concerned your child might have a learning disability, please contact Florida's Children's Medical Services for their Early Steps Program by visiting their website or calling them at 800-218-0001.
